CHAPTER A: SUMMARY

The following is a summary of some of the information contained in this Information Document. We urge you to read this entire Information Document carefully, including the risk factors, AgFeed Industries Inc's historical financial statements and the notes to those financial statements.

1. GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF AgFEED INDUSTRIES, INC.

AgFeed Industries, Inc. is a U.S. company listed on NASDAQ Global Market with its primary operations in China. Through its subsidiaries, it engages in the research and development, manufacture, marketing, and sale of fodder and blended feed for use in the domestic animal husbandry markets primarily in China. The Company is also involved in raising, breeding and selling hogs for use in China's pork production and hog breeding markets. Its products primarily include additive premix fodder for use in all stages of a pig's life and blended feeds. The Company's operations are comprised of 30 hog breeding farms, 5 feed manufacturing plants and 2,000 employees.

AgFeed has two profitable business lines; animal nutrients in premix and blended animal feed and hog production. The Company is one of China's largest commercial hog producers in terms of total annual hog production as well as one of the largest premix feed companies in terms of revenues. Between 2006 and 2008, Agfeed has witnessed its annual revenue growing by 17 times mainly due to the acquisition of interests in hog breeding and producing farms. It achieved net sales of $ 143.7 million in the year ending December 31 2008.

China is the world's largest hog producing country, producing over 625 million hogs in 2008, compared to approximately 100 million hogs produced annually in the U.S. China also has the world's largest consumer base for pork consumption. Over 62% of total meat consumed in China is pork. Per capital meat consumption in China is 53 kg compared to 75 kg in developed countries. With rapid growth in the economy, meat consumption is expected to reach 70 kg. Projected pork demand by 2015 is estimated to approach 68 million metric tons, an increase of 45% or 6.5% compounding growth annually.

Hog production in China enjoys income tax free status. Backyard farms (those that sell 5-10 hogs annually) and small farms (those that see less than 100 hogs annually) dominate hog production in China. In 2008 these farms accounted for nearly 96% of all hog production. Bigger farms account for only 2% of the annual production.

The pre-mix feed market in which AgFeed operates is an approximately $1.6 billion segment of China's $40 billion per year animal feed market, according to the China Feed Industry Association. The animal feed industry in China is highly competitive with many regional players and locally recognized brands. Capital requirements with respect to entry into the industry are low causing many smaller companies competing between them. The largest player in the premix industry commands slightly more than 1% of the national market.

Agfeed's Business Objectives

During 2009 the Company entered into two important agreements; the first was with M2P2, LLC to effect a joint venture that will use the western technology of hog production, and the second was to implement a genetic program arrangement with Hypor, the pig breeding division of Hendrix Genetics. The Company considers that such agreements will allow its hog business to experience growth, both in terms of sales and operating margin.

The Company has identified a number of business objectives:

- Expansion through the development of a Western Model of Production.
- Implementation of a Genetics Program.
- Improvements to Existing Farms.

Expansion through the development of a Western Model of Production

In July 2009 the Company entered into a joint venture with M2P2 LLC, being AgFeed International Protein Technology Corporation, that will focus on enhancing hog production systems for Chinese and other Pan Asian clients based on modern western security standards to increase productivity and ensure the highest bio-security health standards in the Pan-Asian hog industry. The joint venture was formed to capitalise on the commercialisation and consolidation of the hog industry being fostered by the Chinese central and local governments. The joint venture is owned 80.1% by AgFeed and affiliates and 19.9% by M2P2.

The Company is currently in discussions with regional and local leaders as it intends to build four major 'western style production farms'. These farms (which are intended to be completed around mid-2011) are expected to house 20,000 pure line sows, genetically superior animals in bio-secure hog campuses, producing approximately 500,000 hogs by the end of 2011. This yield will bring AgFeed's total production (upgraded through genetics) to well over 1,200,000 hogs in 2011 and a higher number in the subsequent years. This is intended to place AgFeed as the top producer of superior hogs and pork products in all of China.

Implementation of the Genetics Program

In April 2009 the Company entered into a strategic alliance with Hypor, the pig breeding division of Hendrix Genetics. Hypor is world renowned as a leading provider of superior swine genetics and technology. The Company considers that the alliance will allow AgFeed to maximise production with superior genetic animals that are "green" certified and exceed the standards of food safety as required under food safety laws implemented in China in June 2009. The alliance has four phases:

- Upgrade of the genetic base of the Company's existing herds. The Company has purchased 700 head of pure line animals and intends to supplement this by a further purchase of 500 head.
- Stocking of up to 1,200 pure lines to supply superior breeding stock to the Company's production systems and for sale to outside commercial hog farms.
- Establishment of customised high health, top quality genetics for new farms as well as the introduction of environmental upgrades and bio-security measures across all existing farms.
- Development of gene transfer centres to maximise the use of top performing boars across the Company's entire production system.

Hypor is working to enhance livestock quality through breeding technology that focuses on careful genetic selection. This emphasis on quality and consistency promotes the health, survival rate, weaning weight and growth rate, which in turn results in heavier market hogs and improved carcass quality. In addition, preventative measures including vaccination, routine treatments and bio-security procedures assist in achieving a favourable health environment.

Improvements to Existing Farms

The Company intends to continue its programme of improvement of its existing hog farms by:

- Ongoing expansion of existing farms' sow base by better utilising current assets and expansion projects on selected sow farms. The Company has added over 2,000 sows in the first half of 2009 bringing its sow base up to approximately 25,000 sows with a target of 30,000 by the end of 2009.
- Development of a sow parity management program, being a program to manage the replacement of older, less productive sows with younger, more productive sows. The Company intends to continue to aggressively replace older sows through such programs in order to prevent disease challenges.
- Improvement of productivity through re-engineered farm management practices. The Company has commenced training in its operations to better utilise the specific attributes of females. This is being done in concert with its joint venture partner Hypor.
- Completion of farm reporting systems and consolidation. The Company currently has basic reporting systems in place while it commences an upgrade of systems and technology in order to roll up data more efficiently.

4. RISK FACTORS

Set forth below are summaries of certain of risks, uncertainties and other factors that may affect our future results. The full description of these and other risk factors is included on pages 17 – 30 of our Annual Report on Form 10-K and pages 36 of our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, respectively attached as Exhibits 1 and 3 to this Information Document. The risk factors summarised below should be read in conjunction with the other risk factors in the attached Form 10-K and Form 10-Q.

4.1 Risks Associated with the Company

- AgFeed's success depends on the continued service of its senior management and founders, the loss of any of whom could disrupt our business operations.
- AgFeed has made a number of acquisitions since entering the hog farming business, such acquisitions must be successfully integrated. Failure of an acquired business to integrate successfully may not produce results as positive as management may have projected.
- If energy prices remain volatile, this may adversely affect AgFeed's operating results.
- AgFeed is subject to risks associated with currency exchange rate fluctuations. Adverse fluctuations may adversely affect its operating margins.
- AgFeed cannot be certain that its feed product innovations and marketing successes will continue.
- AgFeed relies on independently owned wholesale distributors who do not exclusively offer our feed products to their customers.
- It is possible that AgFeed may be unable to reach its revenue and net income targets due to unpredictable market conditions.
- As a major purchaser of many commodities, which are used for raw materials and packaging, AgFeed's profitability may be adversely affected by price changes in these commodities.
- Outbreaks of livestock disease can adversely affect the Company's operations and sales of its products.
- AgFeed may be exposed to product liability claims in respect of its agricultural feed products. A claim may adversely affect the Company's reputation and success. A judgement rendered against the Company in excess of its liability insurance coverage may have a material adverse effect on the Company and may prevent it from obtaining adequate product liability insurance in the future on commercially reasonable terms.

- If AgFeed is unable to maintain regulatory approval for its agricultural feed products and hog breeding business, it may be necessary to suspend production of all or some of its operations.
- AgFeed faces significant competition in the sales of its agricultural feed products.
- Concerns over the safety and quality of the Company's agricultural feed products could cause some customers to avoid its products.
- AgFeed may not be able to adequately protect and maintain its intellectual property, trademark and brand names.
- AgFeed may be adversely affected by fluctuations in the price of pork.
- AgFeed is subject to the risks of doing business in China.
- AgFeed has a limited operating history in the hog farming business which makes it difficult to evaluate its future prospects and results of operations in this sector.
- Failure to implement livestock breeding procedures could introduce poorer quality stock into the herd.

4.2 Risk Factors Relating to AgFeed's Common Stock

- It may be extremely difficult to acquire jurisdiction and enforce liabilities against the Company's officers, directors and assets based in China.
- AgFeed's shares are subject to significant volatility, which could result in substantial losses for investors.
- Future sales of AgFeed's Common Stock will increase the total number of outstanding shares in the Company. This increase in the total number of shares in issue may dilute the value of existing shareholders' stock thereby depressing the Company's stock price.
- If AgFeed issues additional shares of its capital stock or debt securities to raise capital or complete acquisitions, this would reduce the percentage equity interest of the Company's shareholders.
- Nevada law precludes monetary liability against the Company's directors, officers and employees; it provides indemnification rights to the same, which may cause the Company to incur substantial expenditure and may discourage lawsuits against these individuals.
- AgFeed's management owns a significant amount of the Company's Common Stock . Their interests may differ from those of other shareholders.
- AgFeed's articles of incorporation, bylaws and provisions of Nevada law may make a takeover by a third party more difficult even if doing so could be in the Company's shareholders' best interest.

- AgFeed has agreed with the staff of Nasdaq to seek shareholder ratification of the issuance of its securities in respect of a financing undertaken in December 2008.

4.3 Risk Factors Relating to Stock Dilution

- The issue of additional Common Stock in the Company may result in a reduction in the value of stock held by existing shareholders.
- The issue of additional Common Stock can also affect the percentage ownership of shares in the Company, voting control and earnings per share.
- An increase in Common Stock can occur for a number of reasons including: a public offering of shares; the exercise of stock options; the conversion of convertible bonds; and, the exercise of warrants.
- Under the Equity Credit Agreement, the Company has the right to issue shares of Common Stock, which the institutional investor is required to purchase. In so doing, the risk factors relating to stock dilution may arise.

4.4 Risk Factors Relating to H1N1 Virus

- Since the global outbreak of the H1N1 virus China has imposed strict health monitoring and quarantine requirements on the import into China of pig breeding stock.
- AgFeed's strategic partner, Hypor, successfully imported 315 pigs from sites in France to China in May 2009. The successful transfer of these animals required French government veterinarians to work closely with their Chinese counterparts.
- Further tightening of the regulations governing the import of breeding stock could have a negative effect on the Company.

5. RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

On September 9, 2009, the Company entered into an Equity Credit Agreement with an institutional investor, which was amended and restated as of November 9, 2009, providing for the issue of shares of its Common Stock at any time and from time to time during the next two years for gross proceeds of up to $50,000,000. In connection with the closing of the transaction, the Company also issued warrants to purchase an additional 400,000 shares of its Common Stock during a five year period at an exercise price of $5.75 per share. The fair value of these warrants was charged to additional paid in capital as they were issued in connection with an equity instrument. This transaction closed on September 9, 2009. Under the terms of each of the new lock up agreements, each signatory may pledge some of his shares as collateral for a loan between the signatory and a bona fide lender.

On September 30, 2009, AgFeed consented to the pledge by each Signatory of a portion of the shares of Common Stock held by such Signatory in connection with a loan agreement each signatory has entered into with an unrelated third party lender. If consummated, the loan transactions would result in the pledge of an aggregate of 5,000,000 shares of the Company's Common Stock. Each loan agreement provides for a three year term loan commencing on the date of funding. The Company is not a party to these transactions.

On 14 December 2009, Mr Fredric Rittreiser retired as a director of AgFeed. He was replaced by Mr Ivan F Gothner.

4. TAX CONSEQUENCES

Set out below are the main French tax consequences likely to apply to French investors who will hold shares of AgFeed under French domestic law in force on October 10 2009, and the US-French tax treaty dated August 31, 1994, modified by the amendment dated December 8, 2004 (the "US-French tax treaty"). The tax regime described below may be modified by subsequent laws or regulations, which should be followed by the investors with the help of their usual advisor.

Please note that the information set out below is only a summary of the applicable tax regime. Each particular situation should be carefully analysed by a tax advisor, especially regarding tax residence and the possible impact of citizenship.

- Individual investors who are French tax residents holding shares as a private investment

In accordance with Article 13 of the US-French Tax Treaty, gains realised upon the disposal of shares of AgFeed Common Stock will be taxable in the State in which the seller is resident.

In accordance with Articles 150-0 A et seq. and 200 A of the French General Tax Code (the "GTC"), capital gains realised upon the disposal of shares of AgFeed Common Stock will be subject as from the first Euro to tax on income at a flat rate of 18% if the annual amount of the securities sold by all members of a single tax household (other than the sale of securities on which tax is deferred) exceeds a threshold currently set at €25,000 for income received in 2009. Subject to the same condition concerning the annual amount of disposals, capital gains will also be subject to the following social taxes, which are non-deductible from the income taxable basis:

- the contribution sociale généralisée ("CSG") of 8.2%, (Articles 1600-0C and 1600-0E of the GTC), collected according to the same procedures as income tax;
- the prélèvement social of 2% (Article 1600-0F bis of the GTC), collected according to the same procedures as income tax;
- the contribution au remboursement de la dette sociale of 0.5% (Article 1600-0L of the GTC), collected according to the same procedures as income tax;
- the contribution additionnelle au prélèvement social of 0.3% (Article 1649-0 A of the GTC); and
- the contribution additionnelle au prélèvement social of 1.1% (Law No. 2008-1249 dated December 2008).

In accordance with Article 150-0D 11 of the GTC, capital losses realised upon the disposal of shares of AgFeed Common Stock may be deducted only from capital gains on sales of the same nature in the same year or in the ten years following such disposal. This provision implies, in particular, that the amount of the disposals of securities by members of the same tax house hold during the year of the capital loss exceeded the threshold of €25,000 for 2009 above mentioned.

Shares of AgFeed Common Stock will be included in the basis for the French wealth tax.

- French tax resident shareholders that are legal entities and subject to corporate tax

In accordance with Article 13 of the US-French Tax Treaty, gains realised upon the disposal of AgFeed shares will be taxable in the State in which the seller is resident.

Capital gains and losses realised upon the disposal of shares of AgFeed Common Stock will be included in the taxable income of companies taxable at the ordinary corporate tax rate of the 33 1/3%, as well as an additional contribution provided for under Article 235 ter ZC of the GTC amounting to 3.3% of the corporate income tax after a basis allowance, which cannot exceed €763,000 per twelve-month period.

According to the provisions of Article 219-1 a quinquies of the GTC, net gains realised upon the disposal of securities qualifying for the long term capital gains regime will be exempt from corporate income tax; nevertheless, a 5% service charge (quote part de frais et charges) of the net capital gains will be taxed at the ordinary corporate tax rate of the 33 1/3% as well as an additional contribution provided for under Article 235 ter ZC of the GTC amounting to 3.3% of the corporate income tax after a basis allowance which cannot exceed €763,000 per twelve month period, if applicable.

The long term capital gains regime applies to equity shares excluding investment securities and related securities (titres de participation), held for at least two years from the date of their sale. Pursuant to Article 219-1 a quinquies of the GTC, the following shares constitute titres de participation: shares qualifying as such under the accounting rules, shares acquired pursuant to a public offer of sale or exchange by the company that initiates it, shares of a company that qualifies for the parent-subsidiary regime and which are accounted as such, other than shares of predominantly real estate entities. Shares, the purchase price of which are at least €22.8 million, may qualify for the long term capital gain regime, provided that the conditions required for the parent-subsidiary regime are satisfied, irrespective of the percentage of the issued and outstanding shares of the issuer owned by the holder.

Net capital losses under this long term treatment can neither be deducted from the taxable income at the ordinary corporate tax rate, nor be offset against long term or short term capital gains.

- Other shareholders who are French tax residents

Shareholders subject to a specific tax regime must determine which tax rules apply in their particular case in the event of capital gains or losses realised upon the disposal of shares of AgFeed Common Stock.
